COMMUNITY COMPASSION PARTNERS

As the only animal sheltering facility serving Cherokee, Clay and Graham counties, 1,000 square miles, Valley River Humane Society is experiencing an unprecedented upturn in the number of unwanted or homeless animals, almost doubling our monthly intake over the last three years. While this means that we are in a position to save more lives than ever before, it also presents a significant increase to our operational costs. Caring for more animals requires additional resources and labor, higher spay/neuter and medical expenses, and places a huge burden on our existing shelter facilities and maintenance. Without the financial support of the residents and businesses in our community, we are unable to upgrade, expand and accommodate the area's growing unwanted pet population and provide the necessary housing, care and compassion to save the life of every animal we possibly can and find the forever home that each of them deserves.

The mission of the Valley River Humane Society is to foster a healthy relationship between humans and all living creatures, prevent animal cruelty and suffering, find quality homes for abandoned pets, and educate all ages about animal needs and the value of responsible pet ownership.
